

Investing in Losses

Like India once had a Ministry of Disinvestment, it's time she has a Ministry of Loss Making. How else can one understand government's eagerness to buy out all loss making projects, whether in coal, hydro or steel sectors, collectively a few lakhs of crores of rupees worth? Read more...

The Draconian FRDI Bill, 2017 will script death to the public sector banking

This is yet another deliberate attempt to serve the Corporates by encouraging more private banks in the name of small banks or payment banks and keeping our country's door wide open for Foreign Banks. Read more...

GST to Increase Tax Burden for the Poor in India: Surajit Mazumdar

Dr Surajit Mazumdar says that India's tax structure is regressive in character because it is heavily biased towards indirect taxes, the burden of which falls disproportionately on poorer sections. The large majority of people in India, despite their incomes being very low, actually pay taxes. This is because whenever you buy something, somewhere or the other there is an element of taxation that enters into it through indirect taxes.

India's Ambitious New Energy Policy Draft Tries To Bridge Dreams And Reality

IndiaSpend's analysis of the projections made by India's new draft National Energy Policy (NEP), released by the government's think tank, Niti Aayog, in June 2017. Read more...

Forthcoming events

July 17, 2017, New Delhi: CFA organises a conversation with Dr Thomas Franco, General Secretary, AIBOC, on the perils of the recent banking legislations. More info...

July 22-26, 2017, Hyderabad: People's Summit against FTAs and RCEP. More info...

Centre for Financial Accountability, New Delhi
www.cenfa.org

To subscribe, write to:
newsletter@cenfa.org

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list