Corruption in banks, in the name of cross-selling - Who will bell the cat?

In the name of making banks into supermarkets, providing all financial services, cross-selling was permitted by RBI and the government in the banking industry, which became a pasture for executives to make money, in the form of foreign tours, gifts, gift cards, lavish cocktail parties etc. Read more.

AIIB Water Sector Strategy, September 2019 - Some observations

The draft Water Sector Strategy published by Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB) in September 2019 talks about water being a basic necessity of life that confers value and can also be treated as an economic good. This dichotomy often leads to conflict and a large majority of people facing water shortages as well as lack of access to water supply and sanitation. Read more.

Why Should We Care about Development Finance? ... because it's our money!